'Radio Is Just Another Job' Says Fred Criminger, Announcer

By ROBERT BRAYFIELD

"You have to do more than just talk," answered Fred Criminger, WCIL radio announcer and student of Southern, when asked what qualities are needed to be an announcer.

Criminger, known to radio listeners as Fred Osborn, said, "Most people think that radio announcing is a snap job that immediately pays a large salary. Really it is just another job."

"A job is too exciting if you try to do it and go to school at the same time," the resident of Dupu went on to say. Criminger has classes from 8:30 to 11:30 in the morning and then hurries to the local station to go on the air at 12. He concludes his radio day at 5:30, catching a quick lunch at some interval between times on the air.

Overcoming "Mike" Fright

The latest thing to overcome according to Criminger is "starting to speak before a microphone is to forget that your audience is a large one, and speak as if you were speaking to one person."

When asked what gave him the greatest amount of difficulty as a beginner broadcaster, he said, "Learning to speak without a script on a record program."

"However," he continued, "it soon becomes easy to speak spontaneously."

Announcing Quality

Three officers were elected to the announcer, according to the student announcer, is to have the voice for it. Secondly, and almost as important, is the manner of delivery, and finally a good imagination for talking without a script.

"One thing I have found true in radio, is that the listening audience is an indifferent one." "There is really no way of knowing what the listener wants to hear." "In theatres he applauds for a good performance and bows a bad one, while in radio there is no way of knowing what the radio fans want."

Romantic Ideas of Listeners

Curiously, much of the mail received by radio stations is from people who do not represent the average listening audience. Young fans and "cranks" are the chief contributors.

Criminger says his pet peeve is the average romantic ideas connected with radio announcers, and for his part he would stay in radio only as long as it seemed to be the best he could do, and he does not necessarily intend to spend his life at it.

Concert Violinist

Samuel Duskin

Noted Violinist To Give Concert In Auditorium

Samuel Duskin, internationally known violinist, will present a concert in the Little Theatre Thursday evening Feb. 19 at 8:30.

Mr. Duskin has studied with Kreisler, Remy and Auer, and has been on concert stage since the age of six. In extensive tours throughout Europe and the United States, he has been acclaimed with universal enthusiasm as a master of the classics as well as an interpreter of the foremost modern works. In the interest of increasing the existing violin repertoire, he has introduced previously unknown musical works of the 17th, 18th and 19th centuries. He has also collaborated with outstanding contemporary composers, such as Ravel and Stravinsky, on many of their most important compositions, and has participated in the world premieres of these and other works.

While visiting Southern, in addition to the concert, he will lecture in several of the music classes.

Recently, Mr. Duskin represented the United States on an International Musical Council which met in England. This council was formed for the purpose of selecting the best musical compositions since the war. Manuscripts from all nations were required. During the spring of 1947, he made a concert tour in Europe.

Mr. Duskin has been a member of the American Citizenship Section of the Woman's club of Zeigler on Tuesday, Feb. 10, according to Dr. P. Merrill Larson, chairman of the department, presented a program of folk songs on the University of Illinois campus last Monday night Feb. 9. At 9:30 p. m. the winner of the IIAAC, which will likely be Southern will meet the Dunkel system's champion on the night of March 3, the two winners will meet.

Athletic Director Martin also announced that there will be no complimentary passes issued under any circumstance and only 1600 tickets will be sold.

There will be a meeting of the state directors of the IIAAC, Pioneer, and Illinois conferences for the purpose of discussing and making out schedules for the 1948-49 basketball season. Director Martin will be in charge of the tournament by stating that the winner of the tournament at Kansas City would represent the United States in the Olympics basketball tournament.

Director Martin went to the meeting to attempt getting Carbondale as the tournament site, he believed it to be the most realistic possibility; however, Martin has been a Southern follower in bringing the tournament here can fill the Men's gymnasium to capacity or he wouldn't have felt justified in bringing the classic here. Should the playoffs have been in any other location and it seemed highly probable, the price of admission would have been simply triple the amount which is set in accordance to the profit necessary in bringing this event here.

LINCOLN'S ANSWER

Today marks the anniversary of the birthday of Abraham Lincoln.

His life and the road he followed from the log cabin to the White House to become the United States' sixteenth president has been perpetuated through the years and has been a source of inspiration for people of all nationalities, creeds, and races.

Lincoln had an unaltering belief in truth. This was brought out in his answer to the accusation that he employed propaganda tactics. His answer was: "You can fool some of the people all of the time; you can fool all of the people some of the time; but, you cannot fool all of the people all of the time."

Another of his answers which is especially timely now was recorded on a memorandum at the White House December 3, 1864. It reads as follows:

"On Thursday of last week, two ladies from Tennessee came before the President, asking release of their husbands held as prisoners of war at Johnson's Island. They were put off until Friday, when they came again, and were again put off until Saturday. At each interview, one of the ladies urged that her husband was a religious man, and on Saturday the President ordered the release of the prisoners, when he said to this lady:

"You say your husband is a religious man, tell him when you meet him, that I say I am not much of a judge of religion, but that, in my opinion, the religion that sets men to rebel and fight against their government, because, as they think, that government does not sufficiently help some men to eat their bread in the sweat of other men's faces, is not the sort of religion upon which people get into heaven."

CORRECT THE TIME

One of the inescapable prerequisites of an efficient educational institution is its adherence to a consistent and well defined schedule. These schedules must necessarily exert their influence upon the conduct of classroom activities. These activities are to be conducted according to a schedule, with a minimum amount of confusion and disorder. This demands that some correct standard of time be employed and maintained throughout the school and its many halls of learning.

A review of the situation here on campus reveals that glaring inconsistencies exist among the various clocks which are supposed to regulate our class activities.

The occasion is indeed rare when one can find the classroom clocks to be within three or four minutes of correct radio time. It is not at all uncommon to find these timepieces to be eight or ten minutes too fast or too slow. Not infrequently does it happen that two or three clock readings register two or three different readings; all of which are incorrect.

It readily becomes apparent that such conditions can foster nothing more than confusion and inconvenience. Very often an unsuspecting student will learn that he must interrupt the lecture by his tardy entrance, merely because he is going by "Central Standard Time." This often necessitates a re-check of the class role by the professor, which is not conducive to classroom effectiveness.—R.G.

LINCOLN SETS THE PACE

So you think you got it rough huh, Vet? Well, you have a worthy predecessor who happens to have a birthday this month. Who? Abe Lincoln.

The "rail-splitter" as he was affectionately, and sardonically known, by his friends and enemies, respectively, sets an example for many a poor G. I. struggling for an education today.

Lincoln, too, spent many a weary hour in a cold, drafty room poring over his books, all the while existing on a stipend that would barely keep him in hard-tack

Let's Ignore Your Mind

By Rod Knotts

The Ice Man Cometh—too darned often. It's not that we mind sliding out of Old Main on our left ear; it's not that we don't think it's real enchanting the way cold waves chase each other around creating snow, sleet, and slush, but we have noticed that Southern students habitually wear shoes instead of skis and as far as we are concerned the local ice can be donated to Sweden and the olympics. Not being all wrapped up in winter sports we prefer Spring at Southern.

Speaking of Spring, this year's Spring Carnival should be one for the books. This comes from no less an authority than that showman extraordinary—Bill Price. We quote Price's statement "This year the Spring Carnival can, and should be, bigger than Homecoming."

Speaking of prices we have heard that coffee costs 7c around the campus of a certain Champaign school. If such inflation invades Southern, it will make the cost of breakfast prohibitive for the veteran student, in addition to ruling out a lot of coffee dates.

Speaking of dates, these are some that Southern students won't want to miss. On February 12 the Student Council of Southern presents a free all-school dance in the Men's gym featuring the music of Ernie Limpus and his orchestra. On February 11th, 13th and 16th various campus organizations present talent unlimited in the Little Theatre's annual one-act play contests.

THE CORN CRIB

Edited by Wallace Peebles

Little Willie, having just been given a new bicycle, was showing off for his mother. Riding around the block he passed in front of the house and performed his first trick. "Look, Mom," he said, "no hands." Around he went again and returned this time with both his hands and feet in the air. "Look, Mom," he shouted, "no hands, no feet." Again he rode around the block, this time taking a little longer. Presently he returned and as he rode slowly by he smiled and said, "Look, Mom, no teeth."

SOUND ADVICE: If she looks young, she's probably old; if she looks old, she's probably young; if she looks back, follow her.

"I was an old newspaper man."
"Why did you quit?"
"There's not much money in old newspapers."

Here's to a little doggie that met a little tree.
The little tree says, "Come, pup, have one on me."
The little pup replies as gentle as a mouse, "No, thanks, little tree, I just had one on the house."

Then there was the little musical fish that grew up to be a piano tuna.

"Your father has been captured by cannibals."
"So that's what's eatin' the old man."

Mary had a little lamb,
A hunter shot it dead,
Now it goes to school with her,
Between two hunks of bread.

FILE SURVEYS AT GUIDANCE CENTER

George Landman, veterans' training officer, has announced that the guidance center maintains a file of surveys which have been conducted to determine job opportunities available in this part of the country.

The following excerpts from more recent surveys are typical of the vast amount of information furnished in this part of the country.

The latest survey indicated that the Austin company, 310 N. Dearborn st., Chicago, needs draftsmen with some architectural experience.

It also showed that Allen, 511 S. Paulina st., Chicago, will hire several young men as executive trainees in the mail order division. Applicants should be under 28 years of age and have some college training.

This particular study also revealed that veterans who will complete courses in accounting and business administration during the first six months of 1948 may anticipate the greatest demand for their services since 1935, and possibly the best job market in Chicago's economic history. This information was secured from employers of 22 private employment agencies serving bookkeeping and accounting personnel to Chicago business houses.

Veterans may readily have access to such information by personally contacting Landman at his office at 1612 Thompson street.

In addition to these job opportunity surveys, the Veterans' Administration maintains a list of many technical schools which have been approved for training by the V.A. These schools, once from the one training radio announcements to the one conducted by Rogers Hornsby for young baseball hopefuls.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO G. I. BILL

The proposed amendment to the G. I. Bill of Rights, if passed, will pay $25 to single veterans and $105 to married veterans with no dependents. Married veterans with dependents will receive $120.

George M. Landman, of the Veterans' Guidance Center, advises that the bill also provides for a copy of their children's birth certificate to the center to have it provided. In this manner, considerable time may be saved if the bill is passed.

Since this column has been designated space in future issues of the Egyptian by the "Chief" (the Editor), I will be passing on to you yet any and all information which I am able to unearth in my wanderings about . . . So I'll be saying, "So long," and I'll be seeing you next week if I don't draw K.P. or guard duty over this weekend.

PRESBYTERIAN CLUB CHANGES MEETING TIME

The Presbyterian upper club will meet this week at 5:30 p. m. instead of the usual 6:30 p. m. The speaker at the evening was the Rev. Ernest Harbaugh, of Murphysboro, whose topic will be "The New Life Movement."

MY IMPRESSIONS OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

By Jose Luis Reyes-Navarro

As recipient of the first Rotary International scholarship at Southern Illinois University, I write this article, as the people of the United States rather than Americans, because for Mexicans an American means any person who was born in the territory from Alaska to Argentina, were gained largely from American motives and American tourists in Mexico.

This impression has been changed drastically since I have the opportunity to live and enjoy in American homes with their families, if American fraternities (Delta Delta Chi and Nu Epsilon Alpha), and in American universities from New England states to the Middle West.

Living and enjoying with my American families, brothers and sisters, really I have the opportunity of first hand constructive experience. This is the fundamental reason why my impressions and attitudes toward the American people and the American women are not good as before and mothers, that the American family lacks unity. I have learned that this conception is false—the American women, despite her freedom and her interest in social life, is lovely and makes a good wife and excellent mother; I have learned that the American family does have strong family ties and loyalty, and I have learned this significant fact of overlapping beliefs; that all churches here at the United States have the philosophy of Jesus Christ and the brotherhood of man as their foundations.

This philosophical fact is important enough to keep carefully in mind, to understand the etiology and dynamic of international prejudices, as processes of differentiation and opposition, that often leads to the phases of rivalry, competition, frustration and aggression, conflict, combat and destruction in every day social interaction.

And with increasing destructive processes in every day social interaction, it is impossible to produce enough industrial products, and to have prosperity and abundance in this world that is not yet overpopulated.

Seems to me that cooperative and constructive processes, if we want World Peace, education for international understanding, and emotional and economic security, constructive cooperation between groups and nations are the necessary educational process of mankind, in this atomic era.

Constructive cooperation, mutual aid and understanding of the problems and limitations of the people of the world, it is the road of social progress.

But what desirable qualities and customs, follows and more can we exchange from each other? From the United States to Mexico: an open mind to the educational values of every one's religion and philosophies of education, ample opportunities for freedom of expression and movement; broader educational opportunities.

From Mexico to the United States: a more open mind to the educational values of every one's religion and philosophies of education, ample opportunities for freedom of expression and movement; broader educational opportunities.

Representatives at the meetings will discuss general problems facing the college, including foreign relationships and foreign students, personnel services, and improvements in educational programs. There will be a special session on student teaching. Emphasis will be on the future of American colleges and universities.

tunities; improved compensation for useful learning and professional achievement; ample educational material for the schools; improved economic standards of living; better opportunities for organized group discussion of common problems, leading to constructive action and better organization and humanization of health measures.

On the other hand, I feel that Mexico could contribute to the United States more social life within the family; better church attendance and more emphasis on romance in courtship, including art and music ("gallitos" or serenades to the sweetheart); a greater spirit of happiness—a better balance between ambition and achievement; opportunity to study and appreciate the Spanish and Latin-American culture and philosophies, and wide opportunities to see Mexican films in translation.

Maroons Defeat Northern For Little Conference Win

Maroon basketballers of Coach Lynn Holder chalked up their Southern win against the Huskies of Northern, outplaying the visitors to win 61-59 on the SIU floor Saturday night. The win was the sixteenth in overall competition for the Maroons, compared to two losses.

Slow Start
From the outset of the game, it was apparent that the Southern five was definitely off to their shooting. Maroon Coach Holder had to substitute several times as his starting lineup before he came up with a winning combination. The Huskies played slow, deliberate ball throughout the game, and this was evident in the half-time score which found the Maroons leading 22-10.

Play speeded up a little in the second half with the Maroons, led by Bob Colborn and Jack Long, outplaying their 12 point half-time lead throughout the remainder of the game.

Colborn Paces Squad
Forward Bob Colborn led the Southern five in all departments as he tossed in the points and played a brilliant defensive game.

For Northern, their 6' 7" center, Seagriff, led in the scoring column with 12 points.

The brightest star for the Huskies was their team captain and floor general, Calagiet, who played magnificent ball throughout the game.

GINGERSNAPS

By Duke Giger

The Murphysboro Regional is starting on the same night as the playoff here at Southern. We don't think that any of Southern's fans will pass up the chance to see one of the best quintets in the country in action because of a "A" n. West Frankfort high school game last Saturday night and from fans and sports writers we know who attended the contest there were complaints, other than, "where's the game?" we heard, "St. Louis university best Notre Dame Monday night on their home floor for the first time since 1943 when Marquette 'U' turned the trick.

The Maroons have won 16 and lost two games in the present season. Western Kentucky (17-3) now rated as the first in the nation on some polls, have been beaten by Louisville, who gave W. Kentucky their only defeat; Murray State, Louisville, Southern players and Murray at Paducah early in the season. Evansville best Louisville early in the season; Southern has downed Evansville, lost to them,

Southern WAA Host In Sports Meet Last Sat.

Southern defeated Illinois Normal's volleyball squad but lost basketball games to Washington U. and Western State College, Cape Girardeau was victor in both basketball and volleyball and Western also won their volleyball event.

Lunch was served to the coeds by the Delta Phi Kappa PE major sorority.

Miss Theresa Ivanuk and Jean Stehr, PE instructors, are leading in the badminton ladder tournament, and Bette London and Ruth Shafer on the second rung.

Tuesday and Wednesday nights the Modern Dance group is working on "Caprice Venetian."

Gertrude Lippincott, famous Modern Dancer, will visit Southern's campus on Feb. 25 and 26.

SIU Boxers Go To Finals At Centralia Event

Three Southern boxers have fought on a way to the finals of the Centralia Golden Gloves Tournament. The preliminary round was run off Monday and Tuesday of this week, and the finals will be February 16.

Don C. C., welterweight, from West Frankfort, won his bout on Tuesday night on a K. O. in the first 30 seconds of the first round. C. is fighting in the open division. John Bickel, light-heavyweight, from Paducah, Ky., light-weight from Carbondale Community high school, both drew eyes and will fight next Monday in the finals of their respective weights. Bill Tate, lightweight from West Frankfort, lost Monday night on a decision. Don Gross, heavyweight from Christopher, lost Tuesday night on a K. O. in the second round. Gross who is only a novice in experience, was fighting in the open division.

If Barnes and Cox win their fights in the finals, they will be eligible to fight in the Chicago Golden Gloves as they are both in the open division. Bickel, however, will not be eligible to go to Chicago as he is entered in the novice division.

The Chicago Golden Gloves Tournament is the terminating event for the winners from the western part of the United States. It will be held February 21-22-23-27.

Committee Visits School-Recognized Student Homes

James Shaffer, a freshman in the College of Education from Carbondale, has recently been appointed to the office of the housing committee to visit the men's rooming houses. Mrs. Mable Pulliam, chairman of the housing committee, reports that there are approximately 250 houses for boys in Carbondale. Mr. Shaffer is spending his afternoon visiting the men's houses while Marjorie Temple, president of Pinckneyville is assisting Mrs. Pulliam in visiting the girls' houses. It is found there are approximately 150.

The housing department has certain minimum requirements of most of the colleges around here. These stipulations insure comfort, quiet, and a certain amount of privacy for each student so that he will have the best possible conditions in which to live and study. By visiting such home renting to students, the housing committee hopes to help both students and householders to improve the living conditions of the students while they are in school.

Highlights of Prep Sports

By Bill Hallada
Four of Southern Illinois' best prep ones quintets—Collinsville, Saxon, Pinckneyville, and Centralia—continued their victory march last week by scoring triumphs. Centralia scored up first place in the strong South Six conference, as they downed Benton, 79-52, while the other race contender, Mt. Vernon, dropped a 53-44 decision to Harrisburg.

Pinckneyville made two further advances toward the Southwestern Egyptian title by outlasting Du Quoin, 32-25, and trouncing Anna-Jonesboro, 59-33. In other hoop action, Carbondale Community upset Sparta, 58-52, and Murphysboro slipped past Chester, 39-35. Lawrenceville kept on Salem's heels in the Northwest Egyptian circuit as Lawrenceville ran over Olney, 54-50. In the other league action, Edinburg defeated Mt. Vernon, 48-44, and Flora trounced a strong Fairfield team, 62-24.

Work On Windows Nears Completion

Work on the windows on third floor Old Main is nearing completion, according to Barney Beard, foreman for the J. L. Simmons construction company. Twenty-three windows in rooms 301 through 310 have been installed and bricked in. Only minor trimmings is to be completed. Twenty-one windows remain to be installed. These windows are not as large and do not require as much work as those previously installed. "Complaints have been received concerning the destruction of shrapnel and the noise made by the workmen," Mr. Baird said. "However, the construction company is being as careful and considerate as possible, considering the circumstances under which they are making these necessary repairs," he added.

WIN AT WESTERN WILL CINCH IAC TITLE TIE FOR S.I.U.

A victory over Western III, State of Macon can provide the necessary margin to cinch a tie in the current running of the IAC. The Macon's Leathernecks will be host to the defending champions Friday on the former's court and a week later the Southern cagers will entertain the underdogs in a conference race, the Eastern Panthers. A win over Eastern will give the Maroons their third straight title.

In the only other meeting this season of the two teams, Southern skied out a 73 to 58 win over the Leathernecks, after a hard fight. Western's towering six foot six inch center Miksis is the Leathernecks big offensive gun although he did not live up to expectations in the last Macon encounter. However, even if he fouls out like he did last time, the Western squad has another center, Redman that scores high. He tallied six field goals and four free throws for 16 points and did not play all the game.

Fowler, Smith, Miksis, Will and McClure will be the starting lineup for Western. Colburn, Hughes, Stinson, Shoaff, and Eadie will more than likely constitute the Maroon starting five. Colburn and Shoaff were the offensive cannons in that game with 23 and 15 points, respectively.

In last season's conference games with Western, Southern defeated the Leathernecks twice by 62 and 58-49 scores, both well-played games.
